Teachers, Bankers, Butcher Are Students:

NU Night Courses A Varied Offering

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

From Japanese to jewelry-making, evening courses at the University of Nebraska are filling up with students of all ages and interests.

Second semester evening sessions begin Feb. 3 and include more than 60 class offerings. Last semester a record total of 1,346 persons registered, and NU extension division officials predict an even higher enrollment for the coming spring term.

No less varied than the courses are the ages and occupations of the night class students on the Lincoln campus. About 50 per cent of the enrollment consists of students attending the University of Nebraska and supplementing their daytime schedules or fitting requirements around their outside working schedule.

The adult enrollment for the fall semester included 84 teachers, 43 airmen, 51 secretaries, three bankers, 21 laborers, 44 housewives, 16 nurses, a butcher, a reporter and a candy packer.

All Satisfied

Recently the extension division conducted a poll to determine if the adults and college-age students were satisfied with the wide age range in the classes.

The result was an almost unanimous approval by older students of the younger generation with comments like, "the youngsters keep us on our toes" and "they don't mind asking questions."

The university students also praised their adult classmates, commenting that their elders "take their class work seriously" and "contribute a lot to discussions."

Enrollment Jumps

Increasing enrollment in night classes—which has doubled in the last 10 years—is expected to continue. One reason for the night class enrollment boost is the predicted increase in daytime students, causing some youngsters to transfer out of more crowded day classes. Another factor is the increasing interest in higher education among the adult population.

Night school enrollees can practically write their own course schedule, because courses are self-supporting through the $10-per-hour tuition fee which pays for teaching and administrative expense. Thus, if the demand for any course is great enough, and a qualified teacher is available, the students get what they want.

Most courses require at least 10 enrollees, but some are scheduled with less students because they are considered necessary to a well-rounded program.

Marriage, Business

Among the most popular courses at present are: a marriage and family relationships course, business and accounting courses, political science government courses, sociology and psychology, and photography. Languages and English composition are perennial favorites, and last semester an anthropology course on American Indian cultures drew a total of 57 students.

A partial list of courses to be offered starting Feb. 3 includes typing and shorthand, English literature and composition, French, German, Russian, Spanish, Japanese, art courses in sculpture, oil painting, water color and jewelry making, European and American history, speech development, accounting, engineering mechanics, botany and introductory courses in psychology, sociology and political science.

In addition to the Lincoln campus courses, extension division night classes are given in about 40 other Nebraska towns where interest and teaching faculty are present.

Registration is now in progress for the evening classes, with Mrs. Olga Stepanek, supervisor, in charge.

ARTHUR EISENHOWER

Arthur B. Eisenhower Dies At 71

Ike's Brother
K.C. Businessman

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Arthur B. Eisenhower, 71, retired banker and eldest brother of President Eisenhower, died of a heart attack at his home Sunday night.

He had been in ill health since suffering a heart attack after his retirement as executive vice president of the Commerce Trust Co. Nov. 16, 1956.

His wife said he went to the bath room to wash his hands Sunday night and collapsed there. She investigated a noise from the bath room and found him dead on the floor, she said.

Arthur Eisenhower left the family home at Abilene, Kan., before finishing high school and set out to make his fortune.

He started with the Commerce Trust Co. as an errand boy in 1905 and rose to executive vice president of the firm in 1934.

National Reputation
He gained a national reputation in flour and grain financing and became a director of numerous corporations.

President Eisenhower was informed by the family of Arthur's death, presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty, said in Washington.

Hagerty said there would be no statement from the President tonight, nor any word on whether he would attend the funeral.

Besides the President, Arthur is survived by three other brothers, his wife and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Berton Rouches of East Hampton, Long Island, N. Y., wife of a magazine writer.

The other brothers are Edgar, Tacoma, Wash.; Milton, president of Johns Hopkins University; and Earl, a publisher at La Grange, Ill.

Ambassador To Moscow Back In U.S.

... For Discussions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson came home from Moscow Sunday to report on his efforts to arrange talks between the United States and Russia. He said he does not seem to have made any progress so far.

Thompson will report to President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles.

His return coincided with arrival of evidence that Russia not only is standing firm on all its off-rejected proposals for East-West negotiations but may in fact be hardening its position and raising its terms.

The Terms

Communist Party Boss Nikita Khrushchev said Russia would discuss Eisenhower's recent proposal to Premier Nikolai Bulganin for a ban on outer space weapons and warfare only if the western powers agreed to all of Russia's major disarmament demands.

Dulles Now In Turkey

For Baghdad Pact Meeting

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—John Foster Dulles flew into this frontier land alongside Soviet Russia Sunday for a conference of the five-nation Baghdad Pact alliance.

The American secretary of state has a key role in the four-day talks beginning Monday, even though he is attending the meeting of premiers and foreign ministers only in the capacity of an observer. The United States is a member of several of the alliance's committees, but was not a signer of the pact itself.

Dulles' first appearance in the top ministerial council of the two-year-old alliance comes at a time when Soviet incursions have made the Middle East a major battlefield of the East-West cold war. Soviet offers of military and economic aid, which already have tempted several neutralist Arab lands, appear to be having a side effect of spurring Moslem members of the Baghdad Pact to seek spectacular parallel commitments from the West.

The Nations

The Baghdad Pact, which Dulles conceived originally, girdles the southern rim of the Soviet Union and comprises Britain, Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan.

Dulles, flying in from a stopover in Tehran, was unable to land here Sunday because of blizzard and went to Istanbul, but will be here in time for the opening session. Other statesmen assembled here for the talks include Turkey's Premier Adnan Menderes, Iraq's strongman and ex-Premier Nuri Eghbal, Pakistan's Premier Feroz Khan Noon and Britain's Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd.

Menderes, who returned from a mysterious one-day mission to Baghdad, formally opens the conference in the as yet unused wing of the new Turkish Grand National Assembly building in the center of Ankara. Even now tough Turkish troops are screening the flag-bedecked conference headquarters—troops packing pistols or fixed bayonets and reinforced by husky squads of plainclothes security men.

BOMBS TOSSED AT U.S. EMBASSY, BOOKSHOP

ISTANBUL (AP)—One bomb blasted a warehouse of the U. S. embassy compound and another shattered a private American bookshop near the U. S. Information Center in Ankara Sunday.

The explosions occurred 11 hours before the opening of a four-day Baghdad Pact conference.

Secretary of State Dulles was in Ankara for the conference, but was not in the embassy area.

No injuries were reported. An embassy spokesman said it was assumed the bombs were thrown from passing cars in both cases.

Damage to the embassy warehouse was slight. The rear wall of the structure was blown out.

Huskerville Blaze Put Out

Equipment from three fire departments converged on this Huskerville apartment Sunday afternoon to extinguish a blaze that destroyed a bedroom. The apartment is occupied by Staff

Sgt. Glen Dougherty. According to the Lincoln fire department considerable damage resulted to the bedroom. Two beds, a dresser and other personal property were destroyed and smoke and water caused some damage to other parts of the dwelling. The Lincoln Air Force Base firemen, Huskerville volunteer firemen, and Lincoln firemen all answered the alarm. Cause of the fire was not determined, Lincoln firemen said. (Star Photo)

Ross Due To Get Nod From GOP

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Donald R. Ross, 35, Omaha attorney and Douglas County Republican chairman, will be named Republican national committeeman Wednesday at the special session of the state central committee in Grand Island.

Baring an unforeseen and sudden switch of sentiment the young former United States District Attorney for Nebraska should receive a quick and final okay from a large majority of some 56 (out of 83) committee members expected to be present for the meeting, The Star learned Sunday.

Only substantial opposition is expected to come from Gordon W. Diesing, Omaha attorney, who is reportedly initiating a tremendous last minute push for the post. All signs point to a too-little-and-too-late verdict.

Others Bowing Out

Two other prominent Omahans, earlier mentioned as possibilities, are bowing out, The Star learned. W. C. Fraser, another attorney, has decided not to seek the post. And Sunday, reliable sources reported, construction magnate Peter Kiewit, traveling in California, informed Nebraska Republicans that he was not a candidate.

Ross worked closely with the late T. H. Maenner of Omaha, whose death Jan. 17 created the vacancy, on financial drives in crucial Douglas County which contributed 45 per cent of all Republican campaign funds in Nebraska in 1956.

Diesing, member of the state and county finance committees, is basing his campaign for the post on his fund-raising abilities. He reportedly raised the tidy sum of $11,000 for the Republicans in 1956.

But, for now and for Wednesday, it looks like Ross, whose ascension to a top Nebraska Republican post will mark a happy and triumphant moment for one who underwent extreme pressure in 1956 when he resigned as district attorney...

Neff Case

Ross then cited speculation concerning his relations with John Neff of Lexington, whose $2,500 campaign contribution offer to South Dakota Sen. Francis Case touched off a Senate investigation of lobbying in relation to the controversial 1956 natural gas bill.

Ross was absolved of any sin in the matter by the Senate committee and received glowing praise (of person and integrity) from Nebraska's U. S. district judges, among others.

Since that time, Ross has moved rapidly up the Republican Party ladder in Nebraska.

The central committee will technically nominate a national committeeman Wednesday, but formal approval is expected by the Republican National Committee in Washington this week.

Elsewhere along the Republican front, Marvin E. Stromer, executive secretary of the central committee, announced completed Lincoln Day plans.

Weary Mothers End China Visit With Sons

... Hopeful For Eventual Freedom

HONG KONG (AP)—Tired and a bit nervous, three American mothers came out of Red China Sunday with some hope for the release of their sons from Communist prisons.

"Hope springs eternal always," said Mrs. Ruth Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y. Her son Hugh, 38, is serving a life sentence. She spoke at a news conference in Hong Kong's Carleton Hotel. Mrs. Mary Downey of New Britain, Conn., and Mrs. Jessie Fecteau of Lynn, Mass., stood at her side.

They entered Red China 20 days ago after the U.S. government made a special concession in their case. U.S. citizens are forbidden by their government to travel in Red China.

Leniency—Maybe

They were unwilling to discuss the possibilities of the sons' release. But they recalled a Chinese assertion that leniency may one day apply in their sons' cases. "I am very happy to have had the opportunity of going to China to see my son," said Mrs. Redmond. "He was in very good condition, well dressed, clean and well fed. He was well taken care of."

"The only thing he asked for was more books. I have the highest regard for the Chinese Red Cross who took care of me so well."

Reporters asked if she expected Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai to pardon her son.

"I don't think so," she replied. She said Hugh had lost his teeth and that the Communists had replaced them.

20-Year-Term

Mrs. Fecteau, whose son Richard, 30, is serving a 20-year term, said the sons were happy but "not surprised to see us. They had been informed by the Chinese authorities."

Asked if she thought there were any grounds to the charges of espionage against her son, Mrs. Fecteau replied: "Of course not."

Mrs. Downey, whose son John, 27, is also serving a life term, said she was happy to have made the trip.

"I am extremely grateful to the Chinese Red Cross. I saw my son three times a week for two hours each time and I dined with him at our last meeting."

Didn't Discuss Case

Asked whether she discussed her son's case with Chinese officials, she said: "No. The subject was never brought up."

Mrs. Downey was accompanied on the trip by another son, William. He told newsmen Chinese authorities had informed his brother of the possibility of leniency.

"He has not given up hope and is not despondent," he said. "His full sentence is life. I got the idea he figures there's a good chance he won't have to serve it. They (the Chinese) made no promises but told him sometimes they are lenient. He hasn't given up hope."

Rocket Troubles Continue

Days Of Trying, Frustration Told

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Navy Sunday night called off for a few days at least another attempt to launch its Vanguard satellite vehicle.

It acted after a frustrating period of weather and mechanical difficulties extending over much of the past week.

Another launching may be attempted within a few days. However, the Navy may be unable to maintain the launching schedule which calls for a major effort in March unless its luck improves.

An informed source said launching preparations were suspended "to allow time for correction of mechanical faults which have developed over the weekend."

Almost Fired

These preparations were known several times to have almost reached the firing stage.

It was learned that a launching was only minutes away Saturday evening at the time that Russia's Sputnik II came sailing over this part of Florida.

Persons on the beaches, watching the activity could be seen at the closely guarded cape, plainly observed the Soviet satellite in two sweeps across the heavens, an hour and a half apart.

"That dead dog up there must be thumbing his nose at our Vanguard," one person remarked.

Tension Considerable

The close approach to a first full-scale launching of the three-stage rocket with a 3½ pound satellite in its nose left Vanguard workers and newsmen under considerable tension.

This was less true than the ill-fated Dec. 6 launching attempt, however, because the Navy had kept its plans a tight secret and the public generally did not become aware of the efforts under way.

By contrast last month the launching date was announced in advance. The delays that developed at that time were made public in considerable detail, and the result was a fantastic buildup of publicity around the world.

The Vanguard rocket rose only a few feet and then toppled in flames.

Secrecy Thick

This time the Navy concealed its effort behind a thick curtain of secrecy. There were a few minor leaks of information, but generally the facts were not made public until Sunday night.

Then it became known authoritatively that the launching attempt the past week had been frustrated by a series of minor troubles starting primarily with weather difficulties.

Florida has been plagued with one storm after another — rain, wind and unseasonable cold — the past two months. The weather has been particularly distressing the last three weeks.

Behind Schedule

The repeated delays have made it obvious that the Vanguard program is considerably behind its announced schedule.

President Eisenhower had announced that Vanguard rockets would attempt three small satellites in December and the first fully instrumented 21-inch sphere in March.

There were no launchings in December. It is increasingly doubtful that there will be a Vanguard success this month.

There remained the possibility that the Army would get off the first satellite with its Jupiter-C rocket, which has been under preparation for firing for weeks.

The Jupiter-C, employing the well-tried Army Redstone 200-mile-range rocket as its first stage, is given a much better chance of success than the tremendously complex and as yet untried Vanguard.

Informed persons said the unusually heavy rains produced difficulties with electrical connectors, of which large numbers are required for the many complex instruments and test checks involved in a rocket such as the Vanguard.

Then too, weather conditions at times were below the safety minimums required on the 5,000-mile test range across the Atlantic.

Age Enters Soil Bank Bidding

Consideration of age factor and social security will figure significantly in decisions by Nebraska farm operators preparing bids for a total take-out of their crop land under the Department of Agriculture's 1958 conservation reserve experiment.

Nebraska, along with Tennessee, Illinois and Maine, has been designated as a test area. Early interest indicates heavy bidding here. Nebraska bids will be opened after January 31 with Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation officials determining from prices asked and federal money available how many contracts will be put in force. Bid figures are being kept secret but it is no secret that Nebraska farmers will be asking for enough to give them at least minimum economic security for the five or 10 years their farms are under conservation and out of production.

But unless the older farmers take a realistic look at their social security position they may suffer disappointment.

The Nebraska social security office says that it is defining the soil bank payments as income "in lieu of work." It will not be classed as rent or other income such as from investments.

This means that younger farmers can seal off their productive acres and receive their annual soil bank payments without it canceling that much off their soil security earning credits.

But it will not work that beneficially for the older farmers whose total take-out contracts find them at the age of 65 or will bring them to the age of 65 before the expiration of the five or ten years of their contract.

For most of them their soil bank income will count against the $1,200 per year of permissive earnings, and if greater than $1,200, it will bring about a reduction in their social security payments.

Under Social Security regulations, earned income greater than $1,200 discounts social security allowances at the rate of one month's pay for every $80 or fraction of $80 over $1,200.

When it is considered that a farmer and his wife can receive as much as $162.80 monthly from Social Security such an individual participating in the total conservation reserve for a return of more than $1,200 is liable to lose $162.80 for every $80 or fraction of that over $1,200.

Moreover, an older farmer who may be planning to put his crop land under total contract and then get an off-farm job must face the fact that he is still under the $1,200 limitation if he expects to receive all his social security.

Possibly there will be some conditions that will be exceptional, but the Nebraska Social Security Office said that unless national policy gives a more favorable definition of the soil bank income as it applies in cases of farmers over 65 expecting social security the "in lieu of work" ruling will figure in the consideration of each case.

In a recent Farm Extension bulletin Everett Peterson, agricultural economist at the University of Nebraska, advised that "those who have retired (or who contemplate retirement during the period of their contracts) will want to make such changes as will permit them to receive their soil bank payments and all their social security payments."

That will call for a detailed study of the effect of the terms of the bidding on social security and the matter should be well understood before the amount of the bid is set or the final decision to participate in the test is made.

U.S. Preparing To Sell Yugoslavs Farm Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was reported Sunday night preparing to sell Yugoslavia 64 million dollars in surplus American farm products—about half of it wheat.

This would be a continuation of economic aid to Yugoslavia, which totaled an estimated 120 million dollars last year. Marshal Tito decided last month to accept no further military aid from the United States, which since 1949 had totaled about 1½ billion dollars.

Last month, the United States received word through diplomatic channels that Yugoslavia would like to have economic aid continued.

The surplus farm products, as in the past, it was reported, will be sold at world market prices, which generally are lower than American domestic prices. This is permitted under a law Congress enacted several years ago to aid the economies of various countries.

Bingo Drive Stepped Up At VFW Meet

FREMONT, Neb. (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars Sunday agreed to redouble efforts in a petition drive to legalize bingo in Nebraska.

The VFW is attempting to obtain 56,793 valid signatures to put the issue to a vote in the November general election. The filing deadline for getting the issue on the ballot is July 3.

State Adjutant Bob Lowe of Lincoln told council of administration members from the 16 VFW Nebraska districts that the goal was to obtain between 75,000 and 80,000 signatures before the filing deadline.

Lowe added that more than 40,000 signatures already have been obtained. He said a check had indicated these being counted in the total were valid.

The VFW is seeking to legalize bingo for sponsorship in Nebraska by veterans groups, agricultural groups, churches and similar organizations.

Adrian J. Grobsmith of Kansas City, national VFW membership chairman, gave the council a pep talk on increasing membership in Nebraska.

He said as of Saturday, the Nebraska Department was leading the country percentage-wise for singing up members in 1958 as compared with 1957. He said the Nebraska figure was 80 per cent.

The council said it anticipated 1958 to be one of the largest membership years in the history of the Nebraska VFW.

Dean Jarrett Of Creighton Dies At 69

... Pharmacy Head

OMAHA (AP)—William A. Jarrett, 69, dean of the Creighton University College of Pharmacy, died Sunday night. He had served Creighton as pharmacy dean since September, 1955.

Your Income Tax

By NANCY BENJAMIN
Star Staff Writer

If you are one of the estimated 25 million Americans eligible to use the Internal Revenue Service "short form" 1040A, the IRS urges you to do so—for your benefit and for theirs.

Many income taxpayers received in the mail the punch-card type 1040A intended for the use of taxpayers with 1957 income of less than $5,000 in wages and less than $100 in interest dividend income. The short 1040A forms distributed by the IRS direct to the taxpayers contain certain punched en-

Omahan Nabbed 7 Minutes After $25 Armed Holdup

OMAHA (AP)—A 29-year-old Omahan was nabbed just seven minutes after police said he robbed Morton Cowee, 80, of $25 at knife point.

Raymond Manuel has admitted the holdup in a signed statement, police said.

Cowee, owner of Mort's Recreation Parlor, suffered a slight cut on the back of his neck from a sharp hooked knife wielded by the holdup man.

Cowee said the bandit came into his place, drank two bottles of pop and walked behind the cigar counter and seized him.

"He put the knife on my neck and I gave him everything I had, in my pockets and in the cash register," Cowee said.

Despite a parting threat, Cowee telephoned police immediately.

Cruiser officers Aaron Dailey and William Smith spotted Manuel as he halted a truck seeking to get a ride. The money and the knife, designed for linoleum work, were found in his possession.

tries relating to statistics determined in their last year's returns, and the Revenue Service urges eligible taxpayers to use these forms they receive through the mails in order to keep the key information intact.

However, taxpayers who in 1956 were in the "under $5,000" income bracket, but earned above $5,000 in 1957, should of course disregard the short 1040A form and file the regular Form 1040. Also, any taxpayers in the "under $5,000" who have deductions greater than 10 per cent of their incomes must use the 1040 form if they wish to itemize their extra deductible expenses.

All short 1040A form users may determine their own tax owed or refund by reference to the instruction sheet mailed with the punch-card form, or available at any post office.

Another important point in filing income tax returns is the inclusion of the W-2 withholding certificate. Employers are required by law to furnish copies of the W-2 form to their employees by Jan. 31.

Employees, in turn, must attach the proper W-2 copy to their 1040 or 1040A tax return when filing it. Employees who have worked for more than one concern during 1957 must include all of the W-2's they received during the year.

In the case of couples who file returns jointly, W-2's of both must be included.

The IRS also adds a plea to taxpayers to file their income tax returns, which they believe to be as simple as today's complex financial and tax structure will allow, as early as possible and not wait for the final April 15 deadline.

Proposed Defense Program 'Now In The Works' — Hagerty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty said Sunday President Eisenhower and all members of the administration agree with a 17-point defense program recommended last week by a Senate subcommittee.

Hagerty was questioned about the 17-point program made public Thursday by a Senate preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.).

The subcommittee, after more than 100 days of hearings, proposed stepped-up programs in anti-missile missiles, strategic air power, submarines, warning systems, and civil defense. It also proposed more exchange of information with other nations and reorganization of the defense department.

Hagerty said all but four or five of the committee's 17 points "are now in the works."

Almost All In Message

"Almost all of them," he added, "were incorporated in public speeches made by the President earlier, such as his State of the Union message and his budget message to Congress."

Hagerty said the administration has no intention of giving the much-discussed Gaither report to Congress because the President believes such advisory reports should not be made public.

He added, however, that the Johnson subcommittee had the same information as that contained in the Gaither report, and that only the Gaither group's conclusions were kept from the committee.

Summit Meeting?

Hagerty was questioned about the possibility of a summit meeting of Eisenhower with the heads of the Soviet Union and other powers.

"The President has said he was ready for a summit meeting if we agree on what is to be discussed," he replied.

"I think the administration's reaction has been outlined fully in the President's letter to Premier Bulganin."

"First we have to start through diplomatic channels, and then a foreign ministers' conference to settle what would be discussed. We want honest discussions, not propaganda."

Hagerty said of the Russian satellite: "Militarily, the sputnik does not amount to too much. . . militarily, it doesn't change the picture at all. It does say they have the thrust to get the sphere up there."

U.S. Strongest

"The United States," he added, "is the strongest military nation in the world."

Hagerty said the President is preparing a series of recommendations to be sent to Congress early in this session, and that they will cover, among other things, mutual aid, foreign assistance and reorganization of the defense department.

Hagerty was questioned about a recent speech by Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams in which Adams blamed the Democrats for Pearl Harbor, the Korean War and the nation's lag behind Russia in missiles.

On the same night President Eisenhower urged in a speech that defense and foreign relations problems be kept out of politics.

Guide To Party

Hagerty said that the President was laying out policies to guide the Republican Party, while Adams was delivering a rebuttal to Democratic attacks on the President and the administration.

"I see nothing inconsistent between the two speeches," Hagerty said. "The President didn't approve Adams' speech, but he knew about it."

"There is nothing stopping Adams, or me, or other members of the administration from taking these people (the Democrats) on."

He added that the Adams speech "was in the way of a warning: 'If you want to continue this, this is what you'll meet.'"

Modified Policy

Hagerty at one point discussed the possibility of a summit meeting of Eisenhower with the heads of the Soviet Union and other powers. Hagerty's words created the impression among some listeners that this country was modifying its policy or conditions for such a meeting.

But Hagerty after the telecast denied that he intended to convey any such impression when he said on the program:

"The president has said he was ready to meet in a summit meeting with Khrushchev and other of our allies, if they do one thing, and fairly simple: if we have starts of diplomatic channels negotiations and then have a foreign ministers' meeting to do one very simple thing, to agree on what we can discuss."

Moving Walk Injures Boy, Strips Mother

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A little boy was hurt and his mother stripped of her skirt and petticoat, police said, when their clothing became entangled in a mechanical moving sidewalk at Love Field's new air terminal here.

Patrolman R. J. Shackelford said Mrs. R. E. Womack, 38, of Dallas, was sightseeing with her son, Robert Lee Womack, 7.

He said the youngster fell near the end of the "ride" aboard the escalator-like sidewalk, which hauls pedestrians from the terminal lobby to plane-side ramps. The sidewalk grabbed his T-shirt and dragged him to the end of the walk and skinned the fingers of his right hand.

His mother knelt to help him, and the sidewalk pulled off her skirt and petticoat, Shackelford said. Someone turned off the sidewalk's power and the mother—in a knee-length leather coat—took the frightened boy to a terminal office.

New Bread Suggested To Cut Apple Surplus

Possibly More Petroleum

There was news from western Nebraska at week end that indicated continued development and expansion of the state's petroleum resources.

Three exploratory wells are being readied in Cheyenne county. Two are in the Guelph-Gaylord area. One is directly west of the Chambers field near Sidney. These out-reaching explorations could be the forerunner of new field development. In their least meaning they indicate that experienced concerns are convinced that Nebraska has not yet reached the limit of its oil and gas potentiality.

The announcement of these new ventures accompanied a routine weekly report that noted that average daily oil production is running 54,736 barrels. It also indicated that oil development in Banner county will continue to expand during 1958.

All Nebraska hears these reports with satisfaction and while it hopes that each year will bring added discoveries it also reflects on pronouncements by authorities not so many years ago that Nebraska would never be an oil state. There is a good lesson in that. It is, never take pessimistic advice no matter how impressively uttered. The future always seems to reward the hopeful and the optimist.

Learning From The Red Man

The Denver Post asserts that not since Custer's last stand in the battle of the Little Big Horn has there been such a spectacular Indian-White affair as the routing of the Ku Klux Klan at Maxton, Robeson county, North Carolina.

But there was a big difference. The nation mourned the loss of Custer and his soldiers. The Sioux who won the day did not achieve an enduring victory nor strike a telling blow for human betterment. The Lumbee Indians on the other hand took no lives in effecting a most profound defeat upon an organization of intolerance and they did it before a nation that applauded heartily. They did more in one evening to collapse the Klan than the rest of the nation has been trying to do for 25 years. They also gave the country a good laugh, something it badly needed.

The masked men whose bluff didn't work and who were forced to skedaddle now have a good moment to reflect upon their unneeded function. There might be a place for hooded patriots in a police state where good must be done by stealth. But there is no need for that in a free country where the rule has always been that sheels are for beds, not people. The Lumbee Indians seem to have grasped that great fact better than some of the white people who got to this land perhaps a thousand years later.

Price Of Survival

Three people, highly qualified in the nature of this country's defense, were asked by the Associated Press a very disturbing question. The men were presented a hypothetical case in which Russia had announced it was going to blow up a small island in the Pacific with an intercontinental ballistic missile, and did it. The three experts were asked that if the U.S. was then ordered to surrender, could the country reject the demand and defend itself?

From their answers, it appears that the three men assumed that the question asked them included not only the ability to defend ourselves but the ultimate power to win a war with Russia. Not one of the men gave anything near a definite affirmative reply to the question.

Most disturbing was the answer of Col. Thomas G. Lanphier Jr., decorated World War II fighter pilot and vice president of one of the nation's leading aircraft and missile makers, the Convair Division of the General Dynamics Corp. "I believe," said Col. Lanphier, "that question will be asked the American people in the next three or four years . . . We won't be strong enough if we continue at the present rate."

The two other men, Dr. Edward Teller, nuclear physicist popularly known as the "father of the H-bomb," and Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, famous aviator, both talked around the question but did not answer it directly. It is upsetting, to say the least, to hear such a man as Col. Lanphier state in so many words that this country will be faced with a virtual declaration of war against it within the next three or four years. Frankly, we are not that pessimistic or fatalistic and sincerely hope and believe Col. Lanphier is wrong.

It is about as equally upsetting to learn that none of these three men were able to say without qualification that this nation could successfully defend itself against a Russian attack. The AP did not ask the three what they thought this nation would do in the face of such a Soviet ultimatum. Regardless of how bleak an outlook it might or might not be, Russia would have to do more than issue an ultimatum to take America. The U.S. would never pay Russia's price for survival, whatever the consequences.

But the AP interview is further shocking evidence of the need for an awakening within the country of the need for stern defense measures. And by defense we do not mean merely guns and missiles, but the entire foundation of democracy on which our freedom rests. Our real strength lies in the pursuit of the highest goals in education, natural resources, industry, agriculture and other vital areas, as well as modern means of mass destruction.

Opportunity In India

The current moment is one of considerable interest to India and the rest of the world because it brackets the eighth anniversary of the former's emergence as a sovereign nation. It was that long ago that India severed its ties as a satellite to Great Britain.

The eighth anniversary does not find India enjoying unqualified success. It has an economic crisis and a good deal of internal unhappiness. Its future holds no iron clad guarantee.

However, it would be a grave error to conclude that India is on the way out. No nation of consequence ever set out on an adventure in sovereignty finding the path easy. Such proceed from crisis to crisis and the strong and determined, the well-founded somehow make it.

India's current troubles actually hold an inviting opportunity for the United States. It is a time when real friendship can be of greatest service. The question of India should be moved high on the State Department's priority list and extra effort be extended at this time. Fortunately this country has a surplus of food, sufficient lendable capital to aid India immeasurably. Offers of aid should emanate from this nation and negotiations should go forward on a level that will convince India of the constructive intentions of America. It is no time to drive hard bargains.

Gavin's Position Greatly Altered

WASHINGTON—The desk of the slender, youthful-looking three-star general was piled high with correspondence. With a gesture of impatience he indicated the mass of unanswered letters.

"Look at that!" he said the other day to one of his close associates. "I'd say there were about a hundred offers there. Anywhere from a hundred thousand dollars on up to write. Money doesn't matter, they say. Yet I doubt if I've got five bucks to pay for the postage to answer them."

This is a revealing footnote to the dilemma in which Lieutenant General James M. Gavin finds himself today after the dramatization of his decision to end a brilliant career in the army at the age of 51. His personal dilemma, the struggle of loyalties, past and present, sums up a great deal of the problem the nation faces in pursuit of security in a world imperiled as never before.

Preparing to take leave before he retires on March 31, Gavin has refused literally hundreds of requests for interviews in the press, on radio and television. Under subpoena by four congressional committees, he believes this is the time to be silent.

He feels that in his appearance before the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee, his suggestion that he probably would feel compelled to retire in order to speak freely about what he is convinced are the grave deficiencies in the Army was blown up out of all proportions and beyond his personal control. This was compounded by a news story, which Gavin says was never authorized as an interview, making it sound as though his judgment were warped by his own emotional preoccupation.

While he cannot conceal his fierce conviction of the damage done by economy to the Army's research and development program while he was in charge, and particularly in the missile field, Gavin has decided to state his own case in his own way.

Even though he intends to try to be as objective as possible, the articles Gavin will write will cause a sensation. They are likely to intensify the political controversy over where the blame lies for the missile lag and whether the right measures are being taken.

Russians Compete In Brain Department

NEW YORK—It can be wicked or stupid to generalize, but here's the reason why I think the Russians are producing more scientists and able graduates than the United States:

Our children, by and large, no longer want to "come out first."

The most industrious student in a Soviet classroom, the boy or girl who tops the others in marks, is the hero of that class. His or her counterpart in the average American school—especially below college level—is often considered the class square. The goon or gooness of the class can be voted "most admired" here.

I believe it is as simple as that. The potential enemy strives grimly to better himself; our students prefer to conform, to be part of the mob. One side apparently hungers for knowledge; the other shows every sign of avoiding it or, in a pinch, accepting it with a coating of sugar.

The Russian schoolboy, or girl, starting from age 7, is largely on his own. In the fifth grade of elementary school he is confronted with algebra and physics. He is taught to respect his teacher, who in Russia is comparatively better paid and considerably more respected than the opposite number in the U.S. The Russian schoolboy soon slips into a pattern of 12 hours of school and home-work each day. The school on the other side of town isn't "easier."

Almost from his first hour in the first grade he is imbued with the zeal to win the scholarship which can be his springboard into the Soviet Union's new aristocracy—the estate of the scientist, the engineer, the technician. The competition is fierce. There are said to be ten applicants for each state scholarship offered. Hence the most determined scholastic boning and honing campaign on the face of the earth today.

There are no cartoons or westerns or horror films on Soviet TV; in fact hardly one home in 100,000 has a set. Children's programs, one hour a day, are always educational. The student from an early age has access, for a few pennies, to Puss-in translations of the whole world's popular and more technical scientific papers and books. Soviet translators by the thousands harvest and interpret the earth's old and new-found knowledge, and it is funneled to youngsters in a constant flow.

The Russian teen-ager doesn't pine for a hot-rod. There aren't any. He loses no time consoling himself that he will one day be taken into his father's business or inherit the old man's money. The father doesn't own a business. And, in a sense, the father's money—if any—is the state's property. The boy doesn't have to fret over whether Eta Beta Pi will pledge to overcome the Russian lead.

Gavin is convinced that the full development of the family of missiles fathered by Warner Von Braun at the Redstone Arsenal in Alabama would have long since enabled the United States to put a satellite in orbit if a contrary decision had not been taken. It would have also seen the Jupiter 1,500-mile missile in full production, with missile battalions established on bases ringing the Soviet Union. But he puts very simply the reason why he came to a decision that cost so much in painful struggle:

"I could not stand by and see the steadfast slippage in America's preparedness."

Two years ago the Army's research and development team came up with the concept and plans of the anti-missile missile. It had grown out of work on the Nike-Hercules, a missile with a nuclear warhead to be used against clusters of bombers.

With the Jupiter Gavin had set limits for the scientists—limits that would hold them to a specific objective. Without such restraints the tendency is to follow through "the state of the art," to use a Gavin phrase, and this means lengthy exploration. But when it came to the ultimate defensive weapon—the anti-missile missile—"the state of the art" was the goal. Gavin saw the program repeatedly cut back.

"We need up to a hundred battalions of Nike-Hercules," Gavin has said. "But today they've programmed less than half that."

That five bucks for postage stamps is to Gavin an illustration of the contrast between the power that some men in uniform exercise and their position in American life. "When I let a contract for $150,000,000," he has said, "I know the effect this will have on the stock of a particular company. What if I or someone in my position, were playing some funny business in the stock market?"

Yet one of his anxieties, maintaining his position in Washington, has been how to find the money to educate his four young daughters.

These are some of the troubling complications that have resulted in the loss to the military of one of its most valued men. (Copyright, 1958, by U.F. Syndicate, Inc.)

The Precious Legacy Of Sight

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
INS Staff Writer

NEW YORK — "Wanted: 20,000 eyes for deposit in the National Eye Bank as soon as possible after death."

If this unusual plea from the New York-based eye bank were answered at once, 20,000 blind persons across the nation could undergo operations and see again.

But the operation that turns the darkness of death for one into the light of life for another cannot be undertaken unless the surgeon has a fresh, human cornea to transplant.

The cornea is the window of the eye. When it becomes damaged by disease or accident, it is like a window with a thick coating of ice and blindness results. Fewer than one thousand corneal transplants were performed during 1957 because people have been hesitant about donating their eyes after death.

Mrs. A. Carl Compello, executive director of the National Eye Bank, said in an interview it is easy to bequeath the most precious gift of all—sight.

The bank is a national clearing house for donated eyes. When a "donor" dies, its machinery moves in a race against time, for the fresh cornea must be transplanted within 48 hours after death.

A case history from the bank's files shows how the miracle of sight comes from death.

At 6 p.m. on a Monday, the eye bank is notified of the immediate availability of the eyes of Mrs. M., of Cleveland, O., who had made arrangements before death to donate her eyes.

A doctor in Cleveland removes the eyes. Quickly, they are slipped into a sterile glass container, and packed in ice. A plane rushes them to New York.

Meanwhile, a surgeon in St. Louis, Mo., is alerted. He calls the parents of a little boy who has been waiting several years for the corneal transplant operation.

Schedules are juggled in the surgical suite and a dozen other hasty arrangements are made in St. Louis before the surgeon phones back to the eye bank to say all is ready.

Technicians in New York found Mrs. M.'s eyes to be just right. Again the eyes are packed in the glass bottle, which is carefully placed in a thermos jug of ice.

A Red Cross motor corps driver rushed the precious cargo of potential sight to a waiting plane.

Very early Wednesday morning, the corneal transplant operation is performed on the little St. Louis boy.

This miracle has been repeated 5,320 times since the National Eye Bank opened for business in 1944. But Mrs. Compello noted:

"It is only a very small number when considering the national need—over 20,000."

The eye bank is affiliated with 250 hospitals in key spots from coast to coast. Persons who would like to donate their eyes can get a donor form by writing to the bank at 210 E. 64th Street, New York 21. If there is an eye bank in your town, you may be able to sign up there.

Here are some answers to questions that might be in the mind of a possible donor:

Q. Does age matter, or cause of death?

A. If the tissue is healthy, cause of death doesn't matter, as a rule. The eyes of a baby or elderly person serve equally well. Of late, many more eyes are being donated by parents of infants who die shortly after birth.

Q. Does it matter if I wear glasses?

A. No—if the corneal tissue is in good condition.

Q. Should I put in my will that I wish to donate my eyes?

A. No. The eyes must be used before the will is probated. Tell your next-of-kin, or whoever would be responsible in the event of your death.

Q. Is there any cost to me?

A. No fee for removal of donated eyes. It is not possible to sell or buy donated eyes. This is strictly a work of charity.

Q. Is there any disfigurement after removal of donated eyes?

A. There is no disfigurement whatsoever.

Q. Do I have to die in a hospital to donate eyes?

A. At the present time, for all practical purposes, it is usually necessary to die in a hospital.

Q. Can eyes be left to specific individuals?

A. Usually not. The corneal tissue goes to the surgeon whose name is next on the eye bank's waiting list. (Distributed by INS)

Short Memories

Hastings, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: It seems strange that a man who helped kill off a Democratic Dinner Club in Lincoln, a club that fathered the observance of W. J. Bryan's birthday, should toy with the idea that he can be elected governor.

It was back in the latter part of the 1930s, when, at the election of officers of the said Dinner Club, a troop of men headed by a gentleman now dead, who never did attend such meetings, filed into the room, paid their membership fee of one dollar and proceeded to elect officers from their own group. Their reign was short-lived for the club soon died. The club did live long enough to father a Bryan birthday dinner. But repeatedly one of their chief followers has been found trying to be elected for something. It could be that he thinks Democrats have short memories.

Service Rendered

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Please accept my appreciation for your editorial "Purchasing Oddities," Star, Jan. 22. In my opinion you have rendered a service to Lincoln taxpayers.

When I read about the bids for police cruiser cars I remarked to a friend, "It will be interesting to note what happens. Low bidders have not been awarded the contracts in the past."

Particularly pertinent was the reference to the different makes of cars commonly serviced at the garage and possible differences in economy of operation.

You have written many good editorials on present problems—city, state and national. Too many of us readers are inclined to write when we do not agree but remain silent when we should be encouraging those who take positions favorable to good government.

Thank You

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The Lincoln New Car Dealers Association certainly wants to thank you and all your staff for the fine cooperation and publicity you have given the automobile show.

Attendance figures prove this year's show was a huge success, due in a large part to that "power of the press."

J. Wallace De Brown

Influential Reds

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Abe Lincoln once said, "If this nation is ever taken it will be taken from within." Today the Republicans and Democrats are blaming each other for the mess we are in. Al Smith would say, "Let's look at the record." If we lay our political prejudices aside we will be able to see what we look at. The question is, just how far did Russia overtake us in science? Julius Rosenberg's brother-in-law, David Greenglass, was a key man at work on the A-bomb. Was that coincidence or master planning? In the diplomatic field they were able to determine U.S. policy. In 1940 they organized a plan to directly influence the President of the United States. They selected Miss Adams, a lineal descendant of two presidents. From 1942 until President Roosevelt's death, Miss Adams served as liaison between the president and the Communist party boss, Earl Browder, carrying messages, documents, and information. Miss Adams testified before the Senate Internal Security Committee that she made 39-40 trips or visits to F.D.R. She told in detail how she sold the Communist line on Poland to the President.

After the Teheran meeting, Browder said to her, "well, my work is done." But F. D. R. was only the first President influenced by the Reds. Lamkin Currie, who lived in the White House and was in charge of arranging presidential appointments, was a Communist agent. His assistant, Michael Greenglass, was also a Communist. When Truman was preparing to meet Stalin at Potsdam, Currie arranged that he be briefed by Owen Lattimore just before he left.

When Eisenhower was Supreme Commander in Europe, Cedric Belfrage was one of his press officers. He was finally deported because of his activities for a Soviet espionage ring.

The Reds have always recognized the importance of influencing top officials of our State Department. After their success with Summer Wells, they kept pressing forward with still greater success. Their principal agent now was Alger Hiss. This remarkable person was able to exert influence on three different secretaries of State: Edward Stettinius, Dean Acheson, and John Foster Dulles each appointed by different Presidents, all taken in by Alger Hiss.

The Reds were equally clever at placing their agents in our channels of communication. Mary Price was secretary to Walter Lippmann. Mrs. Alger Hiss was secretary to the publisher of Time, Life, and Fortune, and they had another agent working as a legman for Drew Pearson.

But the most disturbing fact about all this is that these are only the ones that slipped up and were exposed. What about the rest? Isn't it high time we start hanging together instead of hanging separately?

NORTHWOOD, Iowa (AP)—Three children of a family of 11 died Sunday when trapped by fire which burned their two-story farm home to the ground.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Abrahams, and four other children escaped the inferno into which their frame house was turned. Two other children were not at home.

Dead are Roger, 4, and two sisters, Barbara Eileen, 8, and Sharon Kay, 13.

OMAHAN CAUGHT; RAN ROADBLOCK, GUNFIRE

RED OAK, Iowa (AP)—An Omaha man, 25-year-old Gordon Richards, was captured at Red Oak Sunday after earlier driving through a roadblock amid a hail of bullets.

He was stopped at a second roadblock set up by officers. With Richards at the time of his arrest was his 17-year-old sister, Guinevere.

Richards has been charged with armed robbery of a Glenwood service station early Sunday. About $60 was reported taken in the hold-up.

Richards eluded the first roadblock set up 1 1/2 miles west of Red Oak. Red Oak Constable Charles Lilly fired 6 shots at the speeding car when he saw it was not going to stop.

Five of the shots struck the car—one of them went through the front windows and another shattered the rear window.

Sheriff Don Rhoden of Glenwood said Richards tossed out 2 revolvers when he was captured. Miss Richards had 25 to 35 fragments of glass removed from her back and shoulders.

Both Richards and his sister are being held in the jail at Glenwood.

The sheriff said Richard's sister admitted her brother staged the robbery while she stayed in the car. She said she had no advance knowledge of the holdup. No charge has been placed against her.

Rhoden said part of the money was found in the car.

$2,400 Grant Set For Dairy Study At NU

Both farm and city students may qualify for a new $2,400 scholarship to study dairy manufacturing in the College of Agriculture at the University of Nebraska.

The Fairmont Foods Company has granted the new scholarship which will be awarded to an incoming freshman next fall, according to Philip Kelly, chairman of the dairy department at the College. It will be paid in amounts of $300 per semester.

The student must be enrolled in the dairy technology curriculum which prepares students to enter dairy manufacturing phases of the dairy industry, Kelly points out. At present there is a shortage of trained personnel to fill positions in this field.

Kelly stressed the point that a farm background is not necessary to qualify for the scholarship.

The scholarship will be made available to the recipient for all four years of college providing his academic record, character, leadership and promise of success are satisfactory.

SUBURBIA

News of January vacationers, new neighbors, and a party or two is disclosed this morning as Cotner Terrace, Pershing Heights and Northeast Heights residents take top billing.

COTNER TERRACE

We'll roll out our welcome mat once again this morning for Mr. and Mrs. Clinton J. Elliott who are newcomers to Cotner Terrace. The couple and their daughter, Mary Carol, a student at Northeast High School, moved into their new home at 6925 Willow Ave. last Friday.

Visiting at the Elliott home to lend a hand in the moving and settling process are Mrs. Elliott's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Paswaters of Raymond.

Would venture to say that Mr. and Mrs. Rex Winders have had a busy schedule this month. Recent visitors at their suburban home were Mrs. Winders' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wight and their daughter, Lynn, of San Mateo, Calif. When the Wight family returned home two weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Winders accompanied them as far as Casper, Wyo.

In Casper the Winders visited at the home of Mr. Winders' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Winders, and before their return home last week the couple spent a few days in Scottsbluff with Mr. Winders' son, Lyle Winders, and his wife.

You must admit that Nebraska doesn't have too much to offer the skiing enthusiast. Thus it was that Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hidy motored to Colorado the early part of January to pursue their favorite sport. Base of operations for the couple on their 10 day jaunt was Winter Park Lodge in Winter Park, Colo.

Mention of Mrs. Hidy reminds us that she was hostess to neighborhood friends last Wednesday when she entertained at a coffee at her home. Included among her guests were Mrs. William Williams, Mrs. E. C. Balenger, Mrs. Rex Winders, Mrs. Elmer Nelson, Mrs. Jack Carpenter, Mrs. Claude Tetherow, Mrs. Boyd Ready and Mrs. Dwayne Way.

PERSHING HEIGHTS

The members of the Pershing Heights Home Extension Club met on Wednesday evening, Jan. 22, at the home of their vice-president, Mrs. Henry Gruene-meier. The lesson on the sewing of miracle fabrics was presented by Mrs. William Jones and Mrs. Sal Quattrocchi.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ervin Cahl on Feb. 26.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

Understand that Mrs. Donald Bröman entertained at an informal coffee on Friday morning in honor of Mrs. Robert Wilch of Garden Grove, Calif. Mrs. Wilch, a former Northeast Heights resident, is visiting in Lincoln at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Walt Bailey.

Invited for the coffee were Mrs. George Lebsack, Mrs. Kaye Spence and Mrs. Darrel Moreland.

A birthday girl in our suburb this past week was Miss Ellen Palmquist, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. William Palmquist. Ellen celebrated her seventh anniversary on Wednesday, Jan. 22.

Review Club Will Meet

The Tuesday Review Club will meet for a 1 o'clock luncheon Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Vance Rogers, 5535 Madison.

The program, "Who's Who In Labor," will be given by Mrs. Archer Burnham.

Dear Abby . . . Watch Your Tongue! Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read your letter to "Lieutenant's wife" to my husband with glee. Boy, did that bring back memories! May I offer a word of advice to the Lt.'s wife? (1) The "service" does not wash its dirty linen in public. Her letter was in bad taste. (2) the letters R. H. I. P. mean RANK HAS ITS PRIVILEGES so if she is a smart cookie she will never come to a showdown that would spell disaster for her husband's fitness report. I venture a guess that this Lt.'s wife — if her husband makes the grade—will be just as rank-conscious and domineering as the worst of them. For the present, my advice is: bite your tongue and smile. Transfers do happen.

EX-SERVICE MAN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Sorry—you lose! My husband served in the U.S. Army—and in the INFANTRY, to boot!

***

DEAR ABBY: I have put up with a man for 22 years for the sake of my children and I am about at the end of my rope. When he gets drunk there is no living with him. Last week he came home late for dinner all liquored-up and I gave him a lecture, so he threw a whole plate of spaghetti on the floor and it's still laying there. I told him I wasn't cleaning it up. Tell me, Abby, should I just walk out and take the kids or should I go on living with him and be miserable for the rest of my life? I sure need some advice.

DISSATISFIED

DEAR DISSATISFIED: You need help—and so does your husband. Mop up the spaghetti and face the facts. If your husband is an alcoholic (and he sounds like one), don't suffer with this problem another day. Ask A.A. to come to visit him. It's free and they could help your husband as they've helped countless others. Good luck!

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend whose nine-year-old son has a piggy bank. She lets him pass it around like a collection plate whenever they have company. His mother says, "Oh, isn't that cute!" I don't mind giving the boy a little change but I think this is no way to raise a boy. Do you agree with me or not, Abby? I would sure like to see this letter in print. Thanks.

GUEST

DEAR GUEST: I agree with you! If this lady is a friend of yours—tell her she should put a stop to the piggy-bank routine. Encouraging a nine-year-old to "beg" is not cute.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Was Bride on Sunday

MRS. DAVID WILSON MOSSMAN

White stock, lighted candles in seven-branched holders, and single candles in cathedral cups were arranged against a background of jade greenery to appoint the chancel of the First Presbyterian Church in South Sioux City where the wedding of Miss Janice Marion Shrader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Shrader of South Sioux City, and David Wilson Mossman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harland Mossman of Omaha, took place on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 26. The 3 o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Earl Anderson, and Mrs. Joe Morton, Jr., organist, played the bridal music. Mrs. Morton also accompanied Morgan Holmes and Mrs. Jack Konegri, the vocal soloists. Wearing alike sheath frocks of red taffeta the maid of honor, Miss Jackie Kilzer, and the six bridesmaids, Miss Sally Wengert of Fremont; Miss Sandra Kadleck of Omaha; Miss Jo Devereaux of Sioux Falls, S.D.; Miss Anne Wade of Osceola, Ia; Mrs. James R. Mitchell of Lincoln and Miss Fran Jensen of Pawnee City, wore frock-topped feather hair clips, and carried arm bouquets of calla lilies.

Arthur Weaver, III, of Lincoln, served Mr. Mossman as best man, and seating the guests were David Morehouse of Fremont; William Tomson, Frank Tomson, Jack Talsma, Dennis Mullins and Erik Olsen, all of Omaha.

The bride appeared in a gown of white silk taffeta designed with a long-sleeved, sculptured bodice, in which a square neckline was contoured with taffeta folds, and a voluminous floor-length skirt was patterned with garlands of corded embroidery and iridescent sequins. Her veil of imported silk illusion was fingertip length and was held in place with a miniature crown of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She carried an arm bouquet of white roses.

Following the reception in the church parlors Mr. Mossman and his bride left for a honeymoon trip to Chicago, and upon their return they will reside at 2925 L St., Lincoln. For traveling Mrs. Mossman wore a costume suit of red wool, with that of matching tone, and black accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Mossman are seniors at the University of Nebraska where the bride is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, and Mortar Board, and where Mr. Mossman is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, and Innocents.

Demo-Ike Truce On Defense Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic congressional leaders are reported to have agreed to hold their fire for 60 days to give President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy a chance to come up with a defense reorganization plan.

The informal agreement apparently means there is likely to be no concerted Democratic effort to increase in the Senate Eisenhower's request for $1,260,000,000 in emergency defense funds to meet the challenge of Russian missile and satellite advances. Increases may be sought later when the regular Defense budget is considered.

As it passed the House the emergency appropriation measure included $1,260,000,000 in new cash and authority for the Defense Department to transfer 150 million of available non-missile funds to the missile programs.

Individuals Not Bound

While the agreement is not binding on individual Democrats who want to suggest specific changes in the Pentagon setup, the general understanding is that Eisenhower and McElroy will get a reasonable length of time to work out a reorganization plan without serious interference from Congress.

Previously, many Democrats had complained Eisenhower seemed to lack a sense of urgency about making changes that would speed up the Defense program.

Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, said any such notion should be dispelled by Eisenhower's trip to the Pentagon to confer with McElroy and other officials about reorganization moves. Bridges said he expects the President to come up with a plan quickly.

Great Deal Possible

"A great deal can be done to ward reorganization of the Pentagon under existing statutes," Bridges said. "However, any fundamental changes in the present defense system should and must be submitted to Congress."

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, the assistant Democratic leader, said in a separate interview he hopes Eisenhower will eliminate what Mansfield called the "corporation" system of Pentagon operations, with 33 assistant secretaries and their assistants. Many of these were installed on the recommendation of former Secretary of Defense Wilson, who formerly headed General Motors Corp.

"The President should know the Pentagon is not a private corporation and cannot be operated along corporate lines," Mansfield said.

Mansfield said he personally hopes Eisenhower will submit a reorganization plan by March 1, to give additional impetus to the speedup in missile and satellite production.

SE LIONS CLUB, CITIZENS GROUP DIFFER ON ZONING

Two groups of southeast Lincoln citizens took conflicting stands Sunday on the proposed rezoning of a 109-acre tract for construction of a proposed Cushman Motor Works industrial development.

Directors of the Southeast Lincoln Lions Club sent a letter to the City Planning Commission urging approval of zoning changes so that the plant may be constructed on the land just south of Highway 2 between 40th and 48th Streets.

The Commission meets Wednesday to consider the rezoning proposal.

Meanwhile, a 75-member group of citizens opposing the rezoning endorsed an industrial park project north of Lincoln for future industrial development.

Another Meeting

The protesting group, which is gathering signatures for a petition opposing the change (which one spokesman said is "going like wildfire") to be presented at the Commission meeting, will meet again Monday at 8 p.m., at 3801 Stockwell.

The Lions' board of directors passed the following resolution unanimously:

"Resolved: That the president and secretary of the Southeast Lincoln Lions Club direct a letter to the City Planning Commission of Lincoln, Neb., urging approval, by said commission, of the request for rezoning of a tract of land, located at approximately 48th St. and Nebraska Highway 2, from Rural and Public Use to Heavy Industry."

The Southeast Lions have a membership composed entirely of southeast Lincoln residents and according to the letter to the Commission, "it is their (the membership) general consensus of opinion that the proposed development of the above mentioned tract of land will not only benefit this general area but will bolster the entire economy of Lincoln."

Won't Interfere

The directors' letter continued: "It is also their, and our, feeling that such development will not in any way interfere with the planned development of adjacent areas now set aside for residential use."

"We should like to point out to the Commission that the land immediately to the east of the area in question is now zoned for and used for light industry, and further that the approach thereto from 48th St. is also available for commercial or local business uses."

The protesting group's resolution: "The citizens' group opposing the proposed rezoning of the area between 40th and 48th Streets along Highway 2 southeast of Lincoln heartily endorses the industrial park type project proposed by the Chamber of Commerce and the Lincoln Industrial Development Corporation for the area north of Lincoln. It is this type of city-wide planning that will allow Lincoln to grow industrially and to plan the residential area which will attract industry."

At a Monday meeting of the Southeast Lincoln Lions, Lloyd Marti, attorney for the Cushman firm, will speak on the proposed new business expansion. More than 60 members and their wives are expected to be present at the 7 p.m. meeting at the Tillman Plaza.

Kefauver's Opinion

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.), a member of the Senate preparedness subcommittee, said one of the first things Eisenhower is going to have to do is to "arrange some way of getting decisions made."

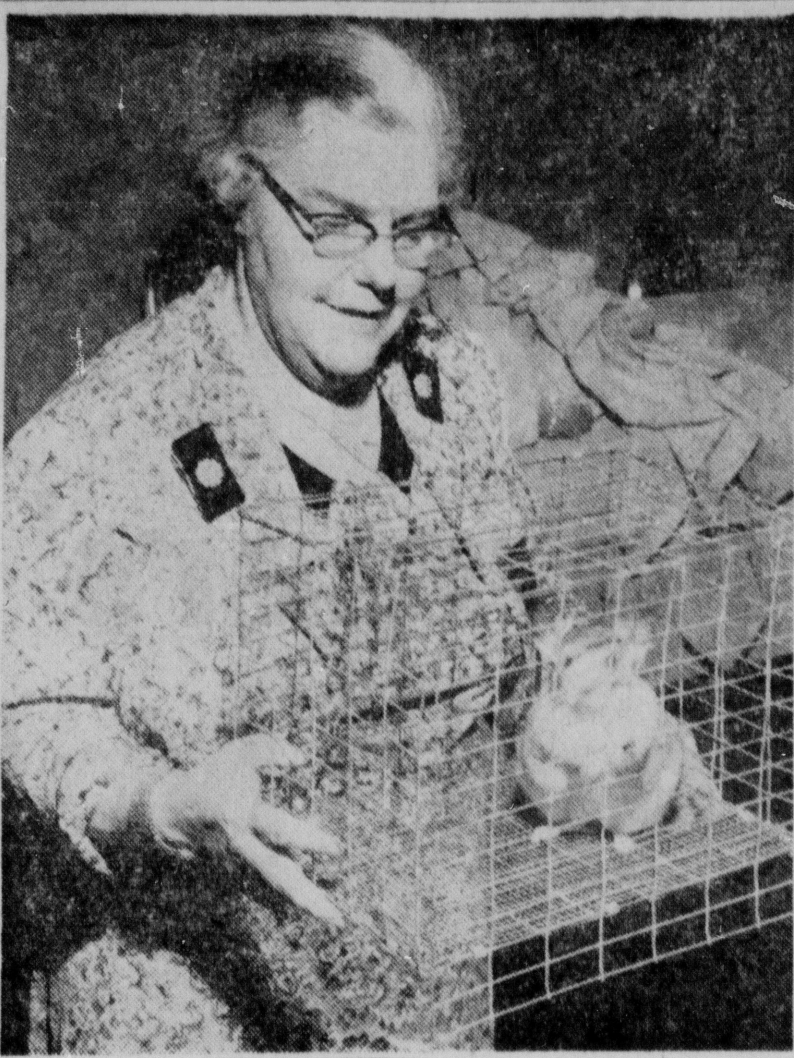

"In the first place, we ought to uncover what kind of war is going to be fought in the years to come," Kefauver said. "The Air Force thinks it will be a short war; the Army a long war; the Navy is in between. The mechanism for making the decision at the Pentagon is so cumbersome that sometimes before a decision is even made an idea is obsolete."

Among other things, Kefauver said he thinks the Joint Chiefs of Staff ought to be relieved of responsibility for operating individual services so they could devote more time to planning.

Play Role Brings School Expulsion

LONDON (AP)—Vanessa Petty, 16, faces expulsion from her school because she won a role in the banned American play "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

The Tennessee Williams play was banned by the Lord Chancellor, Britain's No. 1 stage censor, but opens a London run Thursday in a private theater club.

Vanessa got her role by answering an advertisement. She said she then was told by the headmistress at her school that if she took the part she need not come back to school.

"I don't see what all the fuss is about," said Vanessa. "I don't find the play in the least shocking."

Our Civil Service Workers Celebrate System's Birth

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the 75th birthday of some of Uncle Sam's closest relatives.

They're the two million people who work under Civil Service.

It was in January, 1883, that Congress decided the time had come to emancipate the poor old federal worker from the shackles of the traditional spoils system.

Until the passage of the first Civil Service Act many a man was forced to fork over a year's salary for the right to hold a four-year job in Washington. Political parties imposed special levies against officeholders.

Mobs Seek Work

There was a veritable army of coming and going when administrations changed. When President William Henry Harrison took office in 1841 some 40,000 persons surged into town seeking work. Unfortunately, there were only 23,700 jobs to go around.

Going back to the beginning, George Washington insisted that federal workers be judged on savvy and merit — and not by the hue of their politics.

Thomas Jefferson, assuming the presidency under the Republican (Now Democratic) banner in 1801, astonished his supporters by practicing a bit of Jeffersonian Democracy in refusing to fire Federalist party officeholders.

In 1820 congress reared up and took things in its own hands. It enacted legislation declaring many federal offices vacant after four-year periods.

To The Victors

There were wholesale changes during Andrew Jackson's administration and in 1832 Sen. William Marcy of New York delivered up his famed remark, "To the victors belong the spoils of the enemy."

After the Civil War cries rang out for a change in the system whereby federal employees were handed about like so many shuttles. But Congress dallied with the problem until 1881.

Charles Guetau, a disappointed office seeker, shot and killed President James Garfield that year.

Civil Service became a major issue in the 1882 elections and Congress followed through with legislation the next year putting about 10 per cent of federal workers under a competitive merit system.

Today Civil Service embraces 86 per cent of federal personnel from messenger boy to research scientist.

How the Farmers' Market Affects Your Milk Price

The price of milk is roughly 5c per quart higher in Florida than in our part of the country even after the abandonment of price control in that state. And this higher price in a Southern state is not the result of profiteering.

Florida offers a market for bottled milk, cream and cottage cheese only, outside the seasonal market for cream used in ice cream. Either the dairy farmers' milk goes into bottles and cartons, or it must be separated and the skim milk poured down the sewer.

Roberts Savings to Farmers

Roberts Dairy provides outlets for milk in addition to the markets for bottled milk and ice cream in much of Nebraska and parts of western Iowa. "Surplus" milk may be turned into milk powder, condensed milk, sweet cream butter, and other such items. True, these surplus items do not bring farmers as much money as bottled milk, but...

In Florida, when dairy farmers run into their annual surplus, they have no choice but to ship dairy cattle off to the butcher. They can't afford to produce milk for the sewer.

In the past ten years—at a cost of more than two million dollars—almost alone Roberts Dairy has subsidized a market for surplus whole milk in much of the area it serves.

Even in our area, milk beyond bottling requirements is simply not produced in large enough volume for efficient manufacture except during certain periods of the year. Therefore, the sale of these manufactured products failed, by more than two million dollars, to carry its full share of the cost of doing business throughout the period of the last ten years.

Roberts Savings to Consumers

Yet the savings to you, the consumer, in only one year, the year just past, 1957, amounted to more than three and one-half million dollars in one market alone, excluding the rest of the area.

The foregoing figure is based upon the price of milk to you, in this area, as compared to the price of milk in Florida where no outlet for surplus milk is provided. And the figure is based upon the lowest rather than the highest difference in price throughout the period.

This savings to you amounts to more than might reasonably be expected from any improved efficiency known to us at this time.

Our company may, however, hope to handle surplus milk at an inescapable loss only so long as bottled milk is not used as an inducement to sell other than dairy products. Only under such conditions may Roberts Dairy hope to benefit all users of milk in this section of the country through lower prices, whether or not they buy Roberts milk.

Your purchase of Roberts products helps enable us to serve better both you and your neighbor.

In a class where the competition appears to be "down" this year, Fullerton returns to the top spot as the leader in The Star's Class B ratings.

Fullerton, the leader for the first two weeks, was replaced last week by Howells. But Pilger bopped Howells last week, while Fullerton raced to its 12th win without defeat.

Fullerton coach Oscar Smith considers the mediocre Class B competition as "one of the reasons for our success."

There is certainly plenty of backing for that reasoning. Every other team in the ratings has at least one black mark against it.

Grant, No. 2 this week, has lost only to rated Class A teams, but has had a tough time with lower class clubs. Third-ranked Wayne was nipped by oft-beaten Columbus St. Bonaventure, Chadron, No. 4, lost to Class C Hay Springs, but avenged that defeat last week to move back into the ratings. Minden, No. 5, lost to Class C Gibbon.

Lincoln University High, moving into the ratings for the first time this week off three straight victories over Class A teams, has early season losses to Geneva and Tecumseh against it.

Howells now has its loss to Class C Pilger, but holds in the rankings as No. 7. Bayard has lost to Bridgeport and Gering, but looks the best of an evenly-bunched group of West teams. Neligh has a loss to Class C Battle Creek, while Wahoo has five defeats, but all to Class A or rated B teams.

So Fullerton is all alone at the top of the heap. And a look at the roster helps explain why.

Smith has nine lettermen back from last year's crew which had a 15-4 season and was rated third at the end of the year by The Star, losing by only two points to eventual tourney champion Geneva in a regional.

And the club looks strong for next year, too, since only Dick Travers, Gary Randles, and Larry Gilson, all starters, are seniors. John Travers and Sam Samples round out the starting five.

Dick Travers, a six-foot center, is the leading scorer in a fast break attack which has averaged 68.4 points per game while hitting on 46 per cent of shots from the field. It's a balanced attack however, since Travers' average is only 15.3.

Opponents, meanwhile, have been held to a 41.2 average against Fullerton.

Smith, in his seventh year at Fullerton, considers this year's Warriors as one of his best clubs, at least on a par with the 1953 team which lost in the Class B finals to Cozad.

But Smith is not thinking about an unbeaten season yet. Next on the schedule are Albion and St. Edward, both already defeated badly by Fullerton. But then come two Class A teams, Ord and Schuyler, and two strong Class B clubs, Aurora and Valley.

"We'll get our come-uppance," says Smith.

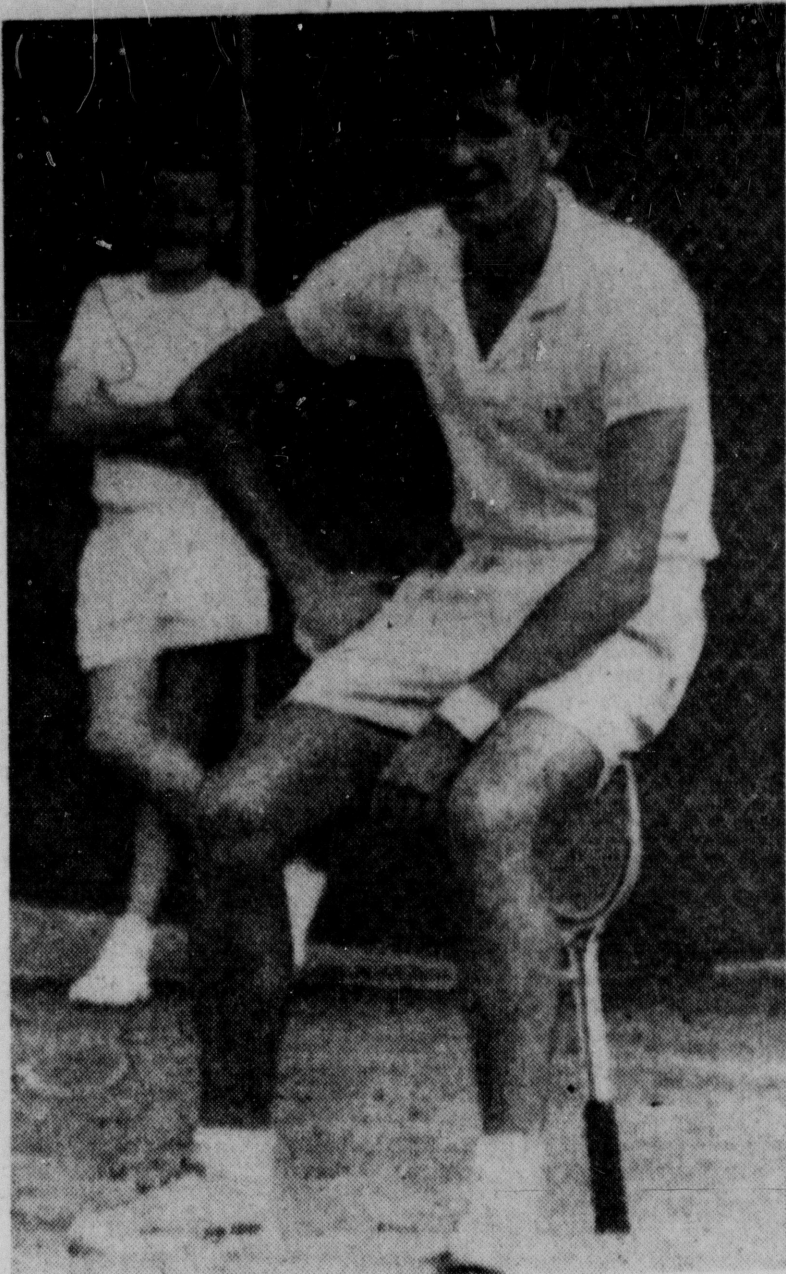

The leaders in Class AA and A remain the same this week, as Lincoln Northeast and York hold on. But the rankings further down the list saw considerable shuffling, particularly in Class A.

Aussie Plans 2nd Sub-Par Mile

MELBOURNE (AP)—The world's youngest sub-4-minute miler, 19-year-old Australian champion Herb Elliott, is confident he will become the first runner to break the 4-minute barrier twice in a week.

Elliott, who meets Australia's other current 4-minute miler, Merv Lincoln, in a special match race Thursday night, was clocked in 3:59.9 Saturday.

Lincoln ran 3:58.9 here last March.

Mervyn Rose of Australia . . . appears to have had enough tennis for the day, resting on a racket and finally stretching full length.

AUSSIE ROSE ANGERED BY NET OFFICIALS, DARKNESS

SYDNEY (AP)—Mervyn Rose, an excitable lefthander, was an angry tennis player Sunday night after officials forced him to continue a semifinal match despite the gathering gloom of dusk in the Australian national championships.

Mal Anderson led 6-2, 5-7, 6-4 when officials finally halted play for the day at 6:40 p.m.

The match will be concluded this morning, with the winner playing defending champion Ashley Cooper for the title in the afternoon.

Cooper defeated Neale Fraser 6-2, 3-6, 10-8, 6-3 earlier Sunday in the all-Aussie semifinals.

It was 5:30 p.m. before the Rose-Anderson match got under way. But with Anderson, the U.S. National champion, sweeping through the first set in 15 minutes, it looked as though he'd have plenty of time to oust Rose before dark.

But Rose, after dropping the opening service of the second set, then fought back and twice broke Anderson with passing shots and smashes to win the set.

At that point, Rose had shown little evidence of the temperment which has won him headlines of late.

But as the third set started, it appeared Rose was having more trouble with the fading light than Anderson — and that he was not happy about it.

When Anderson scored love game to make it 2-2, Rose appealed to the umpire for a postponement. That was at 6:25. But the umpire said it was up to the referee and play continued.

Four games later, at 4-4, Rose made another appeal. It, too, was rejected.

By that time, Rose was so angry he was muttering to himself, but the worst anyone heard him say was "Damn it" as the ball sped past him.

The tall, genial kegler —who is secretary of the State and Lincoln Bowling Associations — had the high scratch score in the singles and all-events, joined Rick Gardner to roll the high scratch doubles series, and was a member of the Italian Village quintet which posted the top scratch team series.

Championships in the tourney are determined by scratch score. However, prize money is distributed according to handicap and scratch totals.

In the singles, Bernie also had the top mark among handicap totals.

"I've bowled better in certain events in past tournaments," Kossek said late Sunday night, "but this year I had my best all-around tournament."

By winning all four events in the tournament, Kossek marked up another record. It is the first time in the history of the meet that one bowler had won every scratch event. Here are Bernie's scratch marks: Singles: 668. All-Events: 1815. Doubles with Gardner: 1169.

Team (Italian Village): 2750.

Few changes marked the final night of the tourney. Chet Wilson of the Journal-Star League rolled a 585-78-663 to move into fourth in the singles, and Bill Kaiser had a 575-63-638 for eighth in the singles. Glen King gained 10th in the singles with his 573-

60-633. Al Steyer and Gene Solberg retained their lead in the doubles with a 1109-159-1268. No changes were made in the doubles top ten Sunday night.

Unofficial in-the-money minimum in the doubles was 1105. Singles' in-the-money minimum was 565.

The Lincoln Beverage Company of the Shamrock League was the team winner, with a 708-2323-3031 mark. Team competition ended Saturday night.

Last-Day Action Sees New High In Tourney Singles, Doubles

The 1958 City Women's bowling tournament went right down to the final day with singles and doubles winners both rolling their lines Sunday.

Ruth Vaughn is the singles and handicap all-events champ, Mary Phalen and Stella Morgan are the doubles winners.

Marie Maul won both scratch singles and all-events, while scratch doubles went to Shirley Stahnke and Jo Landess.

Regler's Dairy won the team title Friday, while Lincoln Liberty

Life was the top scratch bowling team.

Ruth Vaughn rolled a handicap 595 to beat out Joyce Carpenter for the singles crown. Ruth Randolph and Bernice Janssen also moved up on the final day, taking third and fifth.

In doubles, Phelan-Morgan rolled a handicap 1101 to beat out Roma Miller and Norma Bliss by seven pins. Also moving up Sunday were Verna Regelean and Olga Husa, taking third, and Dee Evans and Elizabeth Neitzel, gaining fourth.

Vaughn's handicap all-events title was earned on a 1736 score, including 144 handicap. Marion Marty and Shirley Hornby each had 1643 handicap scores to tie for second.

Marie Maul had a scratch 1624 all-events total, including a high scratch 559 in the singles. She rolled 533 doubles and 532 team series in addition.

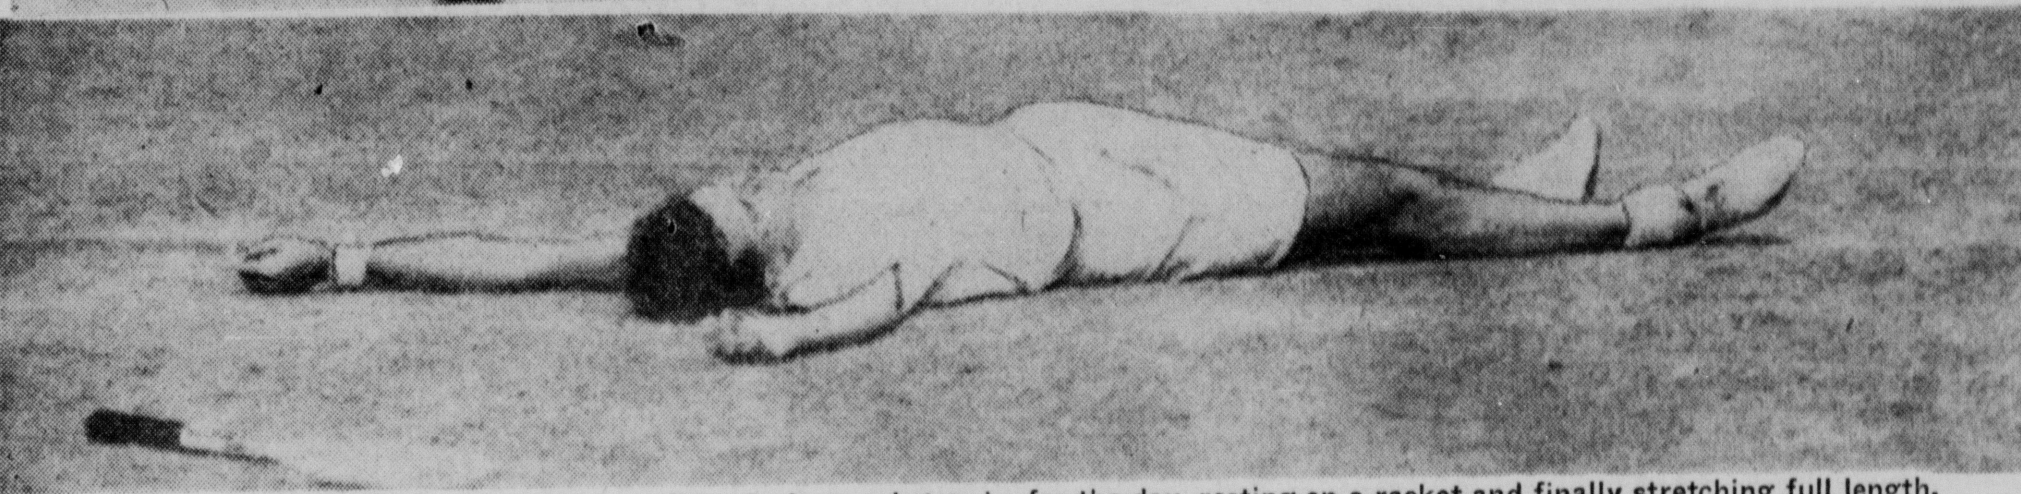

Scores of 513 were in the money for singles, 1014 in doubles, and 2456 for team play.

Down 4-5 in the third set, Rose made no serious effort to crack back. When Anderson led 4-0, Rose made only a half-hearted swipe at Anderson's delivery.

Then Rose stalked off the court when time was called. Cooper and Fraser had given the crowd a tremendous display of power serving. Between them they had 20 clean aces and twice as many unplayable first services. Cooper finally pulled it out when Fraser weakened.

Australia's Thelma Long and Mary Hawton won the women's doubles, defeating Angela Mortimer of Britain and Lorraine Coghlan of Australia 7-3, 6-8, 6-2.

Orioles Sign Rookie For $110,000-Plus

ST. LOUIS (AP)—One of major league baseball's biggest givaway programs ended Sunday as the Baltimore Orioles signed Dave Nicholson for a price estimated at $110,000 or above.

Nicholson's ball playing experience is limited to high school contests and the Ban Johnson League for 18-21 year olds.

Fifteen of the big league teams, all except the Detroit Tigers, originally clamored around the bidding block for the 18-year-old, 210-pound outfield prospect but the only ones to come down to the wire were the Chicago Cubs and White Sox and the Orioles.

The Nicholson family's monetary problems went past mere volume. At the last minute the Nicholson secured the services of a tax consultant in order to determine which offer would have the most eventual value.

The youth's services were not eligible for bids until last week when his class graduated from high school. He was not a candidate for a diploma, having withdrawn from school last year.

Nicholson's home team, the Cardinals, pulled out early in the game, reportedly around the $60,000 mark.

Dick Stuart Okay Pittsburgh Contract

PITTSBURGH (AP)—First baseman Dick Stuart, 25, is the 19th Pittsburgh Pirate to sign his 1958 contract, club officials said Sunday.

With two weeks of play remaining in the winter Dominican League he has hit 14 home runs, a new league record.

Bowling Secretary Kossek . . . closes the book on the 1958 City Bowling Tournament.

Ford Frick Promises Support To Minors' Fight Against TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick Sunday assured a minor league committee of its continued support in seeking a solution to he problem of competition from major league telecasts.

Although six major league clubs have signed for a Sunday "Games of the Week" network telecast during the 1958 season and two Saturday network telecasts again will be in operation, the minors still are hoping for some relief.

Barring action by the justice department that would permit the majors to band together in a common TV policy, there did not seem to be much chance for immediate help.

Frank Shaughnessy, president of the International League and chairman of the minor league committee on Sunday TV, issued a joint statement with Frank Horton, president of the Rochester, N. Y., club and a committee member, after the meeting with Frick.

The statement read: "The Commissioner's view on protection of minor league baseball from ruinous competition by major league telecasts into minor league territories is well known and a matter of public record. The Commissioner reiterated those views to the committee today.

"The Commissioner assured the committee of his continued cooperation in seeking a solution to this problem. The National Assn. (minors) and the commissioner's office have this matter under current and active consideration."

While Frick was meeting with the minors' committee, other baseball men were talking of making a new start on the game's territorial problems. The recommendations of a four-man committee were turned down Saturday when both leagues voted to table the matter.

Objections to making Detroit a possible two-club city defeated the measure in the American League. Opposition to giving the American a chance to move to Los Angeles in the immediate future killed it in the National.

Floyd Stages Own 'Fights'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Promoter Jack Hurley says heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson is secretly meeting top fighters in full-scale 15-round bouts to keep in shape.

In an interview with Examiner Sports Columnist Melvin Durslag, published Sunday, Hurley said the bouts take place every two months at Patterson's training camp at Greenwood Lake, N.Y.

"It's the real thing, too," said Hurley, who promoted Patterson's last title bout with Pete Rademacher. "They weigh-in, use six-ounce gloves, schedule the fight for 15 rounds . . . the whole works."

"These heavyweights are paid anywhere from $3,000 to $5,000 for their work. What difference does it make to Patterson? This is all tax money."

"The experience is doing wonders for Floyd. Where the guy used to depend only on his speed, he's now developing a big punch. He's going to be champion until at least 1967."

Hurley, who is a close friend of Patterson's manager, Gus D'Amato, defended the manager against charges that his feud with the International Boxing Club, headed by James D. Norris, is hurting the fight game by keeping Patterson idle.

"Patterson's manager knows what he's doing," said Hurley. "If the title were held by an IBC man, do you think Patterson would get a chance? Because of taxes Floyd can fight only twice a year, just like Marciano (Rocky Marciano, former heavyweight champion) did."

"Floyd had two fights last year and he'll have two this year. He's right on schedule. What's all the commotion?"

In New York, D'Amato refused to confirm Hurley's story.

"I don't want to comment at this time," said D'Amato. "However if we were doing this, it wouldn't be the first time."

Before the title match with Archie Moore, D'Amato claimed Patterson had several "real fights" with ranking heavyweights. D'Amato said at that time the ranking fighters were told to try to knock out Patterson but none lasted more than three rounds.

WILLIAM BOND & C. C. LILLARD

They made bourbon to please themselves-and pleased everyone!

You, too, will appreciate the superb taste and Kentucky quality of the magnificent bourbon created by William Bond and C. C. Lillard in 1869

William Bond and C. C. Lillard were the kind of men who could spot a limestone spring in the wilderness, who could judge a season's crop by biting a few kernels of corn, who could shrewdly pick out oaks that had the right grain for aging-barrels...men who had a sixth sense for whiskey-making. They made a fine Kentucky bourbon that has stood the test of time—Tamous Bond and Lillard!

KKK Leader Promises Bigger Meeting To Outnumber Indians

MARION, S.C. (AP)—The leader of the North Carolina Ku Klux Klan said Sunday the KKK will hold another rally soon in Robeson County, N.C. and "this time there will be more Klansmen than Indians."

"The overall picture will be a lot different," said to Rev. James Cole, South Carolina preacher who bills himself as the chief of the KKK in North Carolina.

"We don't expect to be broken up again," he said at his home here. "This time there will be more Klansmen than there will be Indians. I don't expect any trouble from the Indians."

Stung By Lumbees

The Klan's last meeting in Robeson County, near Maxton, on Jan. 17 was broken up by gunfire from angry Lumbee Indians. The Klansmen, outnumbered by hundreds of tribesmen, scattered like quail as whooping Indians fired hundreds of rounds of ammunition into the air and the ground.

At the Indian community of Pembroke near Maxton, Simeon Oxendine—son of Pembroke's Indian mayor, and leader of the Indian raid on the Klan—listened in silence to a report on Cole's statements.

"He said that, did he? Well, we'll just wait and see," Oxendine said.

Fights Extradition

Cole is now fighting extradition to Robeson County on a charge of inciting to riot. The charge was made by Robeson Sheriff Malcolm McLeod, who said he warned Cole the Indians were angry over reports the Klan was planning the rally to warn Indians against mixing with whites.

"We definitely plan a meeting in Robeson in the Maxton area within the next month. It will be the greatest rally the Klan has had," Cole said.

"I expect there will be not less than 5,000 Klansmen there and probably more. Klansmen all over the South are pretty upset. I've had offers of 3,000 men from Texas and offers of men from Kentucky and South Carolina."

Plans Made

Cole said a top Klan official from Virginia visited this weekend to discuss plans for the Robeson rally. Cole said he could not identify the official, but a Robeson County source named him as the Rev. James Milligan of Newport news—reportedly the grand dragon of the Virginia Klan.

Cole said he did not know whether Klansmen would bring guns to Robeson.

"We don't ask anyone to bring arms. But we meet on private, leased property and the constitution gives our members the right to bear arms. I couldn't ask them not to carry arms without denying them their constitutional rights."

To Complain

Cole said the Klan was preparing a formal request to North Carolina Gov. Luther Hodges to request an investigation into the North Carolina Highway Patrol and the Robeson Sheriff's Department.

Cole said the Klan was not given police protection against the Indians at its last meeting despite his requests for protection.

"Why did the patrol have 35 men armed with riot guns stationed 15 to 20 minutes away from the rally? They must have been expecting trouble, so why weren't they at the scene?"

WOULDN'T SURPRISE COLONEL IF MAINE BASE EATS IDAHO SPUDS

LIMESTONE, Maine (AP)—The director of materiel at Loring Air Force Base said he wouldn't be surprised if Idaho potatoes were being shipped into the base, which is located in Aroostook County, the center of Maine's potato industry.

Lt. Col. James T. McNeely said, "There is no control over the foodstuffs here. All potatoes, as well as other foods, are delivered by the Army Quartermaster Corps' regional office in Boston."

"I don't know for a fact that Idaho potatoes are delivered here," he added, "but I wouldn't be surprised to hear it."

Sen. Smith (R-Maine) protested that Idaho potatoes were being eaten at Loring and demanded an accounting from the Air Force.

A. K. Gardner, consultant for the Maine Potato Commission, said he told the nation's only lady senator that Idaho potatoes shipped to Maine cost $2.02 per hundred-weight, plus three per cent tax, more than local spuds.

McNeely said that Frank W. Hussy, executive vice president of the Maine Potato Council, sent him a letter a week ago making the same protest.

Entries Pour In But No Contest

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Several weeks ago the U. S. embassy here received from a Chinese Nationalist soldier a sketch of a redesigned American flag, with 50 stars. The embassy was puzzled.

Then other designs began coming in, also with 50 stars. Soon it was a flood and the embassy opened inquiries to find out what was up.

It developed word had gotten around that the United States government was offering a prize of $100,000 for the best design for an American flag to account for statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

Sorry, said the embassy after checking with Washington, no such competition, no such prize.

How A Keotane-Clean Engine Gives You A "Hotter Spark"

On a cold winter morning, the air is cold... your gasoline is cold... your engine is cold. It takes a hot, hot spark to get a fast, fast start. Keotane-Clean spark plugs give you instant "hot spark" starts!

COLD weather is hard on your engine. An engine that's dirty is even harder to start, warm up and smooth out. Spark plugs that are smothered with dirty carbon and lead deposits fire only a thin, weak spark.

To get a fast start you need a hot spark. To get a hot spark you need clean spark plugs. To get clean spark plugs you need Keotane.

Keotane in Skelly Supreme Gasoline dissolves gum in your engine as you drive—cleans off dirty carbon and lead deposits to get spark plugs Keotane-Clean. Keotane-Clean plugs deliver the instant hot spark you need to fire a cold mixture in a cold engine on a cold winter morning. In fact, it's almost like having someone go out and warm up your engine ahead of time.

But that isn't all! Keotane dissolves gum in the fuel pump and carburetor, on rings, valves and pistons. It gets your whole engine Keotane-Clean. A Keotane-Clean engine gives you a clean, hot spark. A clean, hot spark makes the difference in faster pickup, more mileage, a faster hot spark start. It's a wintertime bonus you get from Skelly Supreme with Keotane—the "hot spark" gasoline!

It's so easy to get spark plugs and other vital engine parts Keotane-Clean—and it costs you nothing extra. Just do all your driving with Skelly Supreme Gasoline. With Skelly Supreme in your tank and a Keotane-Clean engine under your hood, away you'll go—Keotane-Quick—morning after morning, all winter long. Keotane makes Skelly Supreme the only "hot spark" gasoline!

Which Gives The "Hottest" Spark?

In only 3,000 miles, even new spark plugs can build up heavy deposits of gum-stuck carbon and lead. This layer of unwanted "insulation" makes starting slow and agonizing—and wears down your battery.

The strong, "hot" spark you get from a Keotane-Clean plug quickly ignites even a cold mixture in a cold engine on a cold morning. You get Keotane-Clean "hot spark" starts—and save your battery!

Legislation To Carry Out Ike's Education Plans Due Tuesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said Sunday he will introduce on Tuesday legislation to carry out the education program of President Eisenhower.

The President is to submit to Congress Monday a special message outlining proposals to give federal scholarships to bright students and federal aid to states for strengthening instruction in science and mathematics.

Smith, ranking Republican on the Senate committee handling education bills, expressed hope the administration program, which would run four years and cost a billion dollars, will receive "strong bipartisan support."

Not Far Enough

Some Democrats who have commented on the Eisenhower proposals have said they do not go far enough. Some have complained that Eisenhower this year is not recommending a program for federal aid to classroom construction—a measure which he backed in the past two sessions but which died in the House each year.

Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass.) announced Sunday he will introduce this week a bill calling for 1½ billion dollars in federal grants to the states for school construction over a five-year period.

In a statement, Kennedy criticized Eisenhower for failing to urge a school construction program this year.

Kennedy said Eisenhower had stated his school construction program was being deferred in order to put more emphasis on training scientists in the wake of the Russian success with space satellites.

"But how can solution to a critical problem which increases in magnitude each year be deferred, as though the overflow of children could stay at home until their case comes up for consideration again?" the senator asked.

Kennedy said he welcomed federal scholarship proposals. But he said it was essential to provide more and better facilities so students could be trained properly to make good use of the scholarships.

Smith, in announcing he will sponsor the Eisenhower proposals, said in a statement:

Sound Plan

"The time has now come to remedy certain deficiencies in education which can no longer be ignored without seriously jeopardizing our security. President Eisenhower's program is a sound, realistic plan to correct these deficiencies."

Smith said his bill would provide matching grants to the states to establish testing and guidance programs for the early identification of able high school students and to strengthen science and mathematics instruction in the elementary and secondary schools.

It also would give assistance on a matching basis to institutions of higher learning for the expansion of graduate education and language training.

The bill also would provide funds for about 40,000 college scholarships and some 5,500 graduate school fellowships over the four-year period.

Mobilize Brainpower

"These provisions are intended to mobilize our national brainpower more effectively, stimulate more talented students to enter the fields of science and engineering, and alleviate the critical shortage of college teachers and language experts," Smith said.

He said the bill also will insure that "control of educational policy will remain at the local level, where it traditionally belongs."

Kennedy said his bill would give assistance to school districts in most need of help through matching grants allocated according to the size of each state's school-age population. It would make available 300 million dollars a year in federal grants for five years, starting July 1, 1958.

The senator said there was a shortage of 140,000 classrooms when school opened in September last year.

Another 44,000 will be needed next year to take care of higher enrollments and about 20,000 are required each year to replace outmoded buildings, he said.

'Propriety Not Same For Solons'

... Rep. Moulder

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Moulder (D-Mo) said Sunday Congressmen are in a different class from executive branch regulatory officials when it comes to the propriety of private connections that might affect their public acts.

Moulder heads a House subcommittee which Monday opens hearings on whether federal alphabet agencies are doing what Congress intended when it set them up to regulate many businesses.

A staff has already accused Federal Communications Commission (FCC) members of illegally accepting industry favors. Without naming them, it said FCC members were given free use of color TV sets by industry and allowed industry to pay their expenses on trips. FCC Chairman Doerfer has called the report inaccurate and misleading.

Sold Interest

Rep. Harris (D-Ark), chairman of the parent House Commerce Committee handling legislation on the TV and other industries, announced sale of his part ownership in a TV station. He said he did so to end "continuous harassment," and not because he thinks it wrong for a congressman to have an interest in a legitimate enterprise.

Moulder said that if a Congress member can be proved to have done something wrong in connection with agencies under investigation, "of course it will be brought out." But he made plain that possible conflicts of interests among members was not the target of the inquiry.

House and Senate members are traditionally elected from all walks of life, and some have incomes from private interests that make their $22,500-a-year congressional pay look like pin money.

Moulder said in an interview that Congressmen are in a different status from regulatory officials because the lawmakers "are not interested as judges in deciding specific cases."

Houston Boys' $10 Rocket Hits 10,000 Feet, 700 MPH

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A group of Houston school boys fired a $10 rocket equipped with recording instruments two miles high at a speed of 700 miles per hour. They called it "a perfect strike."

The rocket was launched by the Rocket Research and Development Society, a 3-year-old organization which has tested 87 ballistic missiles.

The site was a swampy field about 15 miles south of downtown Houston.

Set By 16-Year-Old

The object, 30 inches long and two inches in diameter, was carefully positioned on its launching platform by Denis Ashton, 16, a high school student and president of the society.

It weighed five pounds and contained two pounds of fuel—zinc powder mixed with sulphur—with a primer of black gunpowder.

Fifty seconds after the rocket was launched it landed with a loud thump next to a tree in back of the launching platform.

"It worked exactly as we'd predicted," Ashton said. "As far as I'm concerned it was a perfect shoot."

700 MPH

"The accelerometer is in excellent condition," he said. "The rocket reached a speed of 700 miles an hour and went up two miles—better than we'd expected."

Ashton said the firing was part of "a large project we're working on now which has the code name RID. It's a rocket, five feet long and three inches in diameter."

He said RID was "designed to reach an altitude of some 30 miles and we hope to have it finished in a year and a half. We'll fire it on some military installation, say Ft. Hood."

The society had 85 members from Houston High School, the University of Houston and the Rice Institute.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—As an insurance representative was about to turn over a $1,850 claim to Mario Villani, whose car was stolen seven days ago, the telephone rang.

Dayan Quits As Chief Of Israeli Army

JERUSALEM (AP)—Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, chief of staff of the Israeli Army since 1953, resigned Sunday. The government appointed Brig. Haim Laskow, deputy chief of staff, as his successor.

No reason was given for Dayan's resignation but he has indicated repeatedly a desire to take a prolonged leave for study, and return to his profession—a careerology.

The government acceded to his request that he retain army status with the rank of brigadier.

Laskow, 39, began his army career in Haganah, Israel's pre-state force. He wrote several training manuals and after Israel became a state he headed the department of military training and became Dayan's deputy. He was in charge of mobilization for the Sinai campaign in 1956. His new post gives him the rank of major general.

Dayan, a tough, one-eyed native Palestinian, joined Haganah when he was 12. When the British outlawed Haganah, Dayan got a five-year jail sentence for underground activities and served two years. He lost his left eye during World War II when a bullet struck a telescope through which he was peering.

Japs Fear 192 Lost With Ships

... 170 Aboard Ferry

TOKYO (Monday) (AP)—Rescue ships pressed a search in rough weather for 192 persons feared victims of two sea tragedies.

A 496-ton Japanese ferryboat with 170 persons aboard, disappeared in the stormy inland sea after radioing the single word "danger."

The Maritime Safety Board in Kobe announced one of 19 rescue vessels had found a life buoy and a white painted toolbox believed belonging to the missing ferryboat, the Nankai Maru, and said it is almost certain the boat sank in the area south of Numashima Island.

The No. 3 Shofuku Maru, with 27 crewmen aboard, ran aground and capsized about three miles off Kushimoto, 100 miles south of Osaka, southern Japan.

Five persons swam ashore and were rescued. Still sought were the 22 others aboard.

There were 141 passengers, including 10 children, and 29 crewmen aboard the ferryboat.

It left Komatsushima on Shikoku Island Sunday for Wakayama, a 50-mile trip.

Winds of more than 50 miles an hour caused heavy seas, hampering the search.

'No Plans To Close Hastings Depot'

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—Rep. Phil Weaver of Nebraska has been informed that the "Navy has no plans to close the Naval Ammunition Depot at Hastings."

In answer to a query, Weaver said a Navy spokesman wrote that "every effort has been made to distribute the reductions equitably and to maintain in operation as many stations as economically feasible."

The letter continued: "Please be assured that every effort is being made to utilize the facilities of the Navy's ammunition depots to the fullest extent possible."

Last year, the Bureau of Ordnance, Department of the Navy, announced that the Hastings depot would be placed on a "partial maintenance status" by June 30, 1958. Later, though, Depot Commander Robert Thatcher said a cut to 300 to 400 employees was to be given further study.

The depot in September of 1945 employed 6,853 persons. Late in 1954, though, the figure was down to 2,600 and it has been falling since. Employment now is about 750.

Cheerleader Judy Pallen from Alliance High School claims she was clutching her "lucky peanut" during every game her school football team won last season. As further proof, she says, she was holding the peanut when crowned queen of the school's Pigskin Prom.

Sid Brown, chairman of the Falls City Chamber of Commerce school committee, plans to present to the governor a petition with about 150 signatures protesting the change in routing.

Venezuela Tensions Mounting

Counter-Coup Feared

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela's ruling junta met suddenly in an extraordinary session Sunday night. A new wave of tension swept through this capital city.

Fears were aroused that supporters of ousted Dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez might be on the verge of attempting a counter-coup.

Armored cars took up patrol. All persons, even those with safe conduct passes, were warned to stay off the streets during curfew.

There were no immediate details on the reason for the junta session or the basis for the rumors of a possible counter move by Perez Jimenez followers.

A once powerful leftist political leader returned earlier Sunday from exile and declared he was proclaiming a truce among the nation's political parties.

Politician Back Jovito Villalba, one-time chief of the Union Republicana Democrata party, came back to Caracas from Panama, where he fled after the 1952 presidential election. Villalba claimed victory in that election but Perez Jimenez seized control.

Villalba said Venezuela must now build a strong, expanding economy "so we don't have to depend only on petroleum or arms the United States might give us."

Villalba said he believed the most important characteristic of the struggle that resulted in the ouster of Perez Jimenez was the fact that he "did not fall by a coup in the barracks but by the people combined with military youth."

Peron To Go Soon Meanwhile, another fallen dictator, Juan D. Peron of Argentina, said he will leave Venezuela "as soon as possible."

It was expected he would depart within 48 hours.

Peron, who has been living here in exile, took refuge in the Dominican Republic embassy when Perez Jimenez was toppled. He said he probably will go to the Dominican Republic when he leaves Caracas. Perez Jimenez fled to that country when the civilian-military uprising ended his rule last week.

—GENEVA—

Doniphan Pair Back In Jail

GENEVA, Neb. (AP)—Two brothers, who broke jail at Geneva Friday, and later were captured near Buffalo, Mo., were en route back to Geneva Sunday evening.

Fillmore County Sheriff Albert Tobiasen had the two back in jail at Geneva Sunday night. They are John White, 24, and his brother, James, 19, both of Doniphan.

The two were in jail on a burglary charge when Sheriff Tobiasen said they broke out part of a weak wall of the county jail early Friday and escaped.

Missouri State Trooper Andy Easter spotted the two at Buffalo, became suspicious, chased down their car, curbed it and arrested the Whites late Friday night.

Fillmore County authorities said the two had signed waivers of extradition at Buffalo. Additional charges of jail break have been filed against them at Geneva.

The brothers were the object of a manhunt last December after being picked up for questioning on burglary charges. James was caught and jailed at Sutton, but John returned and helped him break out. They were caught south of Grand Island two days later.

People will point me out. "There is the man who jumped out of the cold-water tub just after Ava Gardner! And just before Gregory Peck!"

They will improve the story probably. All three of us will be leaving out at once. I gave them the best towels and kept the scratchy one for myself.

DEPLANE'S POSTCARD

Rain is falling again. The great dark-green mountains of Michoacan are hung with black clouds and the Mexican Tourist Bureau issues a daily agonized bulletin that this is UNUSUAL weather.

"Vio lento Norte En Vera Cruz y Tampico," says the headline in Mexico City's daily Nove-dades. The highlands are cold from Chihuahua to the Valley of Mexico.

We are in Morelia today. Once known as Valladolid after the Spanish city. In the old days, it was the summer home of the Spanish viceroys. The hero-priest of the Independence, Morelos, was born here.

His home is a museum on the tourist maps.

If you ask directions to the hot baths at Cuichco, you pass by the hill of Las Bateas where he had 200 Spaniards shot—a piece of history not mentioned in the tourist guides.

The pillared Hotel Virrey de Mendoza was the home of the viceroys. And Mendoza himself looks down haughtily from an oil painting over the fireplace.

For a change, I am staying at the Villa San Jose. Two miles south of the highway that runs from Nogales to Mexico City.

It has a number of roomy individual bungalows. Each has a fireplace burning the fat, resinous pine of the highlands. It costs $14 a day double with three excellent meals.

It is a historic spot.

I live in the same cottage that sheltered Ava Gardner! Two doors away is the cottage where Tyrone Power fed pine slabs into the fireplace!

They made "The Sun Also Rises" against the colonial backdrop of Morelia.

Nobody can show me exactly where Morelos scragged the 200 Spaniards. But I can show you precisely where "Teoronal Parr poncech Aiol Fleen een the nose."

That is history, amigo!

The entire company of "The Sun Also Rises" took over Villa San Jose. It added immeasurably to the stature of the maids who were able to brag:

"This morning I picked up Tyrone Power's pants!"

It does not hurt my stature, either.

Did Miss Ava crawl under the same bed to retrieve the bedside flashlight? I imagine she did.

When I paddle around in my bare feet, I am treading in the dainty footsteps of Miss Ava. (I do not know exactly where she stood. But I have walked all around in my bare feet. Just to be sure.)

My feet are freezing. But it is worth it.

Did Miss Ava have the same shower trouble and leap screaming from the tub when the water suddenly turns cold? That is a heady thought.

Next week, Gregory Peck comes here. He will have the same cottage. I am sandwiched between celebrities. It will give me dinner conversation for months.

As the years go by, our proximity will become closer and my story will get better. I imagine. That is what I do with stories.

I will get it to a point where I moved in while Miss Ava was moving out. She came back for a pair of shoes she forgot. I helped her fish them out from under the bed.

As I was moving out, Gregory Peck moved in. He helped ME fish out a pair of shoes I forgot. There is no end to improvement I can put on this story. I will tell it at cocktail parties.

People will point me out. "There is the man who jumped out of the cold-water tub just after Ava Gardner! And just before Gregory Peck!"

They will improve the story probably. All three of us will be leaving out at once. I gave them the best towels and kept the scratchy one for myself.

History is not made in Morelia. It is improved by what you get home. (McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Working For Peanuts

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP)—Most of the money for the support of the Bellefonte High School band comes from peanuts. Each fall, members of the band canvass the school district selling peanuts. The proceeds go toward general band expenses. Band Director Bruce I. Garner says it is practically the only means the band has for raising money.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Boer
Camaraderie in Washington has reached the boiling point.
Let's give the co-operators a hint on parliamentary procedure. Don't get so anxious for peace that you hire an interpreter with a lisp.
Both parties are such good friends they can't let each other out of their sights. Meaning either eyes or guns.
This camaraderie business takes more shapes than smoke in the wind. Right now it's half-way between the Camarilla of Austria and the Camorra of old Naples.
Both these institutions exercised directional rights of pointing with the thumb instead of the finger.

WISHING WELL By William J. Miller
There is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
